The first-ever Community-Led Housing Conference is a landmark occasion for the sector

Community-led housing is on the rise and is gaining momentum. More and more people are taking the housing situation into their own hands and building the homes their communities need. Following the Government's commitment to invest £300m into community-led housing and wider interest from funders, lenders and councils alike, the sector is now set to expand.

This event will explore how to move the sector to the mainstream as well as offer a range of practical sessions for community-led housing groups.
